To All Our Valued Customers,

As you are aware, the country is facing uncertainty amid the COVID - 19 crisis. We want you, our valued customers, to know American Ultraviolet is committed to the safety and well being of our employees; remains dedicated to our customers; and continues to receive unwavering support from our vendors and suppliers.

We have put measures in place to protect our employees and the community around us. We have advised sick employees to stay home. We have implemented strict cleaning procedures that require employees to regularly clean their hands, workstations and high use areas. Cleaning solution, disinfecting wipes, and hand sanitizers have been placed throughout our facility. We have also restricted business travel, and we will not allow visitors in our facility for the next 30 days.

We know in the coming weeks that there is a potential for our operations to be slowed due to raw material shortages, longer lead times, and personnel shortages. If this occurs, we appreciate your understanding and patience with our team.

American Ultraviolet will continue to alter our response to this crisis as it seems to be rapidly changing, and we assure you we will continue providing you with the best customer support.
